A little more about me

Hi there, I'm Nando. I build web products and I keep teams moving so things actually ship. I learned to code in Berlin, spent four years working in Stockholm, and I'm now based in Madrid. Day to day I live in React and TypeScript, and I also handle the planning side: sprints, backlogs, and keeping design, product and engineering talking to each other.

Outside of tech I run Planka Records, my own vinyl label, which taught me more about deadlines and budgets than any tool ever did. The rest of the time I'm making music with synths, playing padel or traveling. Always up for a chat or for building something new.

Professional Experience

Senior Frontend Developer, Knowmad Mood

Apr 2026 – Aug 2026 | Spain (Remote) | Client: El Corte Inglés Viajes

Senior Frontend Developer on the El Corte Inglés Viajes project, leading the migration to a new component-based design system. Built and maintained reusable, accessible UI components with React, TypeScript and JavaScript (ES6+), documented and tested in Storybook. Partnered with design and product to define component standards, improve UI consistency and speed up delivery across squads.

Frontend Developer, Leadtech Group

Sep 2024 – Dec 2025 | Spain (Remote)

Helped shape a modern web platform built with React, Next.js and TypeScript, crafting clean UIs with TailwindCSS, Sass and styled-components. Maintained a shared Storybook design system, brought content to life through Strapi CMS, and worked with Product and QA to ship reliable features. Kept the release flow running smoothly with Jenkins CI/CD pipelines.

Frontend Game Developer & Project Manager, Quickspin

Jan 2024 – Sep 2024 | Stockholm, Sweden

Built games with JavaScript and TypeScript, integrating art and driving animations with precise coordinates. Alongside development I took on the project manager role: planning sprints, managing the backlog in Jira and coordinating priorities between design, art and development to keep releases on track, working with both small and large teams.

Frontend Developer, Hayyp Group

Feb 2023 – Jan 2024 | Stockholm, Sweden

Crafted pixel-perfect interfaces and enhanced user experiences. Collaborated with a multidisciplinary team to develop web applications, adhering to best practices and coding standards.

Frontend Developer, ComeOn Group

Nov 2021 – Feb 2023 | Stockholm, Sweden

Developed and maintained React.js solutions, turning Figma templates into functional apps. Wrote clean, well-documented code and worked with cross-functional teams using Agile methodologies, applying responsive design, SEO and performance optimization.

Founder & Project Manager, Planka Records

2020 – Present | Worldwide | Independent vinyl label

Founder and owner of an independent electronic vinyl label that I run end to end: creative and A&R direction, closing deals with artists, managing the release pipeline with pressing plants and distributors, and owning budgets, licensing and timelines. I also produce and promote the label's events and built its digital presence.
